

Abstract of the Disclosure

A grease zerk cover comprised of a single piece has an opening to accept a grease zerk, a retaining lip inside the opening, a flare on the end with the opening to scrape residual grease from the zerk when the cap is affixed to the zerk, and a flare on the opposite end providing a gripping surface for the fingers of the hand to remove it.